Brief Report

Indian constitution declared India is the quasi-federal country. In this system governments are set up at central, state, and local levels. India is the vast territory and there is need to form local governments for solving minimum needs of the people with promptly. In this way the union govt. set community development programs (CDPs) but these were not effectively functioned. So the union government formed various committees such as Balwant Roy Mehata committee, Ashok Mehata committee, L.M. Shingvi committee etc., Ultimately the parliament passed 73rd and 74th constitutional amendment Acts and these were provided constitutional status to the local self-governments.

Objectives

- 1.To know the meaning and definition of the Local governments
2. To trace out the origin and evolutionary growth of local governments
3. To understand the classification of local governments
4. To explore the composition of local governments
- 5.To analyze the role of local governments in day today livelihood of people
6. To get knowledge about the financial resources of local governments

Outcomes of the course
